

On The Road To Emmaus

Here is some advice from a fellow disciple who has on gone before us: "But I call to God, and the LORD saves me. Evening, morning and noon I cry out in distress--and He hears my voice!" Psalm 55:16-17

"The well taught Christian carries everything to God--and in so doing, obtains relief, enjoys peace, and grows in grace. For all that we need--we should call upon God.

At the close of every day, it is our mercy to call upon the Lord. We must make confession of sin--and obtain pardon. We must carry to Him our burdens--and obtain relief. We must tell out before Him our needs--and obtain a supply.

Oh, how precious it is to go to the Lord at the close of each day, and tell Him all that has . . .vexed us, grieved us, cast us down, or disquieted our spirits!

And how blessed to go to him each morning, and seek grace to live holily and happily through the day!

If we were more with the Lord in prayer, we would have . . .more strength to carry our crosses, more patience to bear our troubles, and more comfort amidst life's sorrows."

James Smith, 1859, A Help to Devotion

A fellow disciple